

Cadence Living Acquires Three Community Portfolio in Atlanta and Nashville

Scottsdale, AZ. — Cadence Living, a senior living development and management company based in Scottsdale, Arizona, announced today that it has acquired a three community senior living portfolio in Atlanta, Georgia and Nashville, Tennessee. All three communities were previously Elmcroft branded communities and are now Cadence at Rivergate in the Goodlettsville suburb of Nashville, Cadence Marietta and Cadence at Mt. Zion in the Jonesboro suburb of Atlanta. All three communities are located in wooded, tranquil settings with architectural design that compliments the communities’ southern heritage. This acquisition adds 228 units of assisted living and memory care residential apartments to Cadence’s portfolio.

“We are excited to be strategically situated in the vibrant cities of Nashville and Atlanta and we now have great local coverage of these communities with our recent hire of Pruitt Health veteran Mike Dollander,” stated Cadence Principal Rob Leinbach. “The community teams have top-quality leaders and we look forward to infusing our culture into these buildings.”

Cadence Living is currently developing, owns and/or operates communities in California, Arizona, Colorado, Georgia and Tennessee and is expanding its footprint throughout the south and west. What sets Cadence apart is the company’s devoted approach to creating healthy, vibrant communities that offer residents exceptional independent living, assisted living and memory care lifestyle options. The name “Cadence” underlines the company’s philosophy that each of their communities respond to life’s natural rhythms, enlivening and enriching resident experiences.
